

POST SECONDARY NAVIGATION

support services

Spectrum Connections offers off-campus post-secondary navigation support services for students with autism or similar neurological profiles. Services are tailored to each student's needs at all stages of their college career. They are provided by staff with deep expertise in how autism impacts the skills students need to thrive in a post-secondary school environment.

support services format individual meetings, typically once a week, held on-campus, off-campus, or virtually support services include

- self-advocacy skill development
- anxiety-reduction strategies
- scheduling and planning assistance
- college fit recommendations
- student progress reporting in real time
- create and strengthen linkages between selected degree program and job prospects by partnering with College Career Services
- connect students to campus and community resources and activities learn more or schedule a free half-hour initial consultation: Melva Radtke, Executive Director of Spectrum Connections

Spectrum Connections building self-advocacy and job readiness skills for young adults on the spectrum

651-269-5002

spectrum-connections.org

info@spectrum-connections.org